Son of Broomstick May Win the Derby Abroad This Week.

and Professional. Interest in the running of the Derby, the blue ribbon fixture of the turf in Great Britain, is more general in this country than has been the case since John E. Madden sold Sir Martin to Louis Winans for the single purpose of starting in the great race several years ago. It will be remembered that Sir Martin went to the post a slight favorite, and was running strongly not far from the finish, with his chances for winning exceptionally bright, when he got caught in a jam and fell, to the bitter disappointment of many Americans at Epsom and to a host of racegoers in this country, who had learned to respect and love him for his brilliant performances as a two-year-old here. In-terest in the race on Thursday is due to the fact that Herman B. If by any change Sweeper II should carry off the highest honors of the turf world it would mean much to the turf here, which is sadly in need of general stimulation, due to legislation, which, as I have said before, was aimed at public bookmaking and wishes of thousands of racing folk for success on Thursday at Epsom.

All in all, the intercollegiate championship games at Philadelphia on Saturday were far and away the finest in the long history of the association. Pennsylvania won a deserved victory, and should receive the highest commendation, for success came after a series of discouraging setbacks. As predicted a week ago, an unusual number of new intercollegiate records were made. The greatest performance was the vault of R. A. Gardner, the Yale captain, who set the world's mark in the pole vault at 12 feet 1 inch. The members of the Olympic a week ago, an unusual number of feet 1 inch. The members of the Olympic feet 1 inch. The members of the Olympic committee present were pleased when they saw him vault, for he showed clearly he was entitled to a place on the American team. C. D. Reidpath, of Syracuse, is without a peer in the quarter mile at the present time. He would be a valuable man be suffering from the temporary loss or indisposition of two or three players who mean much to the smooth running of the machine. present time. He would be a valuable man to the team, for any athlete who can run a furlong in 21 2-5 seconds, one-fifth of a second behind the record, following the fast-Paul Jones, of Cornell, is faster than ever, as he clearly showed in the half mile, when the only defeat suffered this season-when he made a new intercollegiate record of 1.53 4-5-this after a hard mile an hour have run the mile in close to his American record if he had been attending to his own work and not been handicapped by coaching his teammates in an effort to get additional points for Cornell.

Jones has a place on the American team assured. Putnam, his teammate, will undoubtedly be considered by the Olympic committee, for he is one of the fastest American half-milers and ranks close to Jones. Although Captain Withington, of Harvard, won a clean-cut victory in the chances now look pretty gloomy. two-mile race in record time, I think Tel Berna is his superior and will beat him if they meet in the trials at Cambridge on Saturday. The Ithacan star was a beaten man before he started in the longer race at Philadelphia. He went out of his class to help Cornell in the mile run and ran a gritty race, which killed him off for the event in which he was considered a sure winner. The times in the other track events were good, but hardly fast enough for the winners to find places on the Olympic team. R. L. Beatty's put of 48 feet 10% inches with the shot places him in the front rank of the country's best weight men. He is now a close rival of Ralph Rose and Pat McDonald, although this country is particularly strong in shot-putters. Beatty seems to have earned a place among the leaders. Roy Mercer, of Pennsylvania, who leaped 23 feet 101/2 inches in the broad jump and ran a great race in the furlong, deserves the greatest praise. All in all, it was a wonderful exhibition by the college men, and one long to be remembered. Pennsylvania deserved her grand victory after a series of discouraging early season

The critics and "dopesters" fared badly. This was partly due to the failure of some of the men to live up to form, but more particularly to the fact that a number of the athletes exceeded by far even their Baseball, Polo Grounds, To-day, 4 P. One of these days some enthusiastic soul will write a book about the uncertainties of baseball, and he will not lack for striking illustrations. John J. McGraw and his Giants arrived home on Friday, after a whirl about the National League circuit, in which they played in every city except Beston, with a loss of only two games, and on their own diamond and before a home hit with telling effect an invigorating and crowd promptly met defeat at the hands delightful sport. Mr. Duryea is well known of the St. Louis Cardinals. Of course, the to lovers of racing in this country, as he Giants can't go on winning game after campaigned a stable of horses on the tracks game, but, for all that, it was rather dishere before being driven abroad to seek appointing, more particularly as the men pleasures denied to him on this side of the played far below their true form. This was Atlantic. For that reason he has the best forgotien, however, when, led by Matty quick revenge came on Saturday.

It begins to look as if the figure nine Speaking of Broomstick recalls to mind had something to do with the loss of their that the stout little son of Ben Brush beat first home game. The bitter struggle through the stretch, in that posed of it is quite possible that another possible that a brilliant and sensational race is implanted string of victories is in store, as there is in my mind in a way that can never be no denying the fact that the Giants this effaced. I never saw a greater battle between thoroughbreds, and I have watched ting, base running and fielding—in fact, many a close and stirring finish. Irish Lad everything which goes to make up the fin-

It may be recalled that the Detroit Tigers did last year what the Giants have been doing this, and yet lost an American was robbed of the honor because of the League pennant. On May 29, 1911, the Detroit standing read: Won 27, lost 5, and on May 31, it was: Won 32, lost 11. The Tigers were sailing far along in front, too, with even a bigger lead than now held by the Giants. All this is not recalled for the pleasure of being pessimistic, but simply to indicate what may happen if the slump comes. As a matter of fact, the comparison is not a particularly good one, as the New York team appears to be much stronger and better balanced than the Detroit nin

Another illustration of the uncertainties of baseball has been furnished in the last two weeks by the Cincinnati Reds. After travelling along at a furious pace, game for game with the Glants, they suddenly and even unexpectedly took a fancy for a slide on the toboggan. The Giants gave them the first push by winning three games, after losing the first two in Cincinnati, and since then the Reds have lost eleven

If the Williams College baseball team defeats Cornell on June 13, it is hard to see how any fair minded critic can deprive it est quarter in years, would be sure to swell of the so-called championship. John turned the tables so decidedly on Amherst last Thursday, by a score of 8 to 2, that Amherst won the first game of the series -loses its bearing on the final standing earlier. There is no doubt that he would Williams has defeated Yale, Princeton and Dartmouth, among others, and if Cornell also is beaten, the right to the title could hardly be questioned.

Cornell, by the way, has a hard trip in prospect, with Williams, Brown and Yale to be met on successive days. Further than that, defeat by Pennsylvania on Saturday was disquieting to the undergraduates, who have been counting on the championship since defeating Princeton. The Yale's decisive victory over Princeton on Saturday makes the outlook dark for the Tigers. It is possible, of course, that the tables may be turned next Saturday, which will leave the question open for the final battle in this city. The Yale team is living up to the promise it gave early in the season, when I did not hesitate to pronounce it one of the best developed at New Haven in recent years. Princeton has a strong, well balanced nine, but appears to lack the finish of last year's championship team.

Brown has had a bad week, losing to Holy Cross and Amherst. If the team beats Cornell on June 14 and repeats against Yale on June 20, it may still be counted in the running. Holy Cross, by the way, is sure to get a forward place. The team has played good baseball all the season and numbers among its victims Yale, Princeton, Harvard and Brown.

The United States League appears to be doomed. It looks now as if the powers in organized baseball sat back, knowing full well that in due time it would develop into a "horrible example."

Le Roy Mercer is being showered with honors at Pennsylvania, and well are they deserved. It is seldom that the same man is elected captain in two major sports, yet this distinction has come to Mercer, as in addition to leading the football eleven next fall for the second time he will guide the destinies of the track and field team.

I FORD STOPS THE TIGERS

Yankees Bat Out Victory Over Detroit in Second Game.

MULLIN WEAKENS AT END

New York Twirler Starts Poorly, but Settles Down and Is Invincible.

[By Telegraph to The Tribune.] Detroit, June 2.-Wolverton's band of Yankees to-day visited retribution upon the Tigers for the fluke beating handed them yesterday. The figures stood 6 and 3. Largely responsible for the pleasing outcome was the performance of Birdie Cree. Nine outs are a heap for a gardener to gather in one session of baseball, but Birdie did it, in spite of the fact that the meadow was soggy from a ten hours' rain Six of his chances called for spectacular He took them running with the ball, sprinting to each side and off his shoestrings. He would have made it an even ten only for a slip in the mud, on which Ty Cobb got a double.

Ford was wabbly in the early stages and brought gloom to a hig crowd of New York "fans." But it was a case of he who laughs last. In the first five innings no Yankee passed the middle station; in the last "we no Tige did, while the visitors had quite a parade in the sixth and

The sixth inning was a heart breaker for the Hon. G. Mullin. Up to that frame he had let only three Yankees visit the first ack and had sent the first two batters of the fatal round to the bench in sorrow. The third-Zinn-sent a tall one up over seconbase, which Ty Cobb thought was coming his way. Tyrus rushed in, yelling for Dele hanty to clear the track, and, to save his life, Delchanty obeyed, although he was just about ready to make the catch. Cobb dropped the ball and Zinn landed on see Ty's failure evidently got Mullin's nerve for he passed Cree and Hartzell, after been placing implicit faith in the colt. mixed in with a few ingredients which gave a margin big enough to stall off rallies After Stump gave Cobb a merry chase Sweeney singled past third and Ford doubled to centre. That manufactured the first tally. Daniels sent Ford along to third with a poke through short, but Bush got Chase's bounder and killed off Ford at the plate. Daniels took third.

Right here the luck. Chase and Daniels started a double steal. Stanage threw to Delahanty, who returned the ball wide. It reached Stanage at the same moment Daniels did, and Yank and Tiger went down in a heap. Daniels roosting on the plate and the ball going to the stand. Stanage loafed on the retrieving play and Chase came all the way home.

One error helped the Tigers to the runs they got before Ford settled down to business. Bush walked for a starter, and Jones hit to Stump for a toss to Gardner, who muffed. Cobb drove a single over second, on which Bush talled after falling flat in the mud rounding third base

Opening the third came Cobb's double

Chicago, June 2—The White Sox played a careless game behind Walsh to-day and the Athletics won by a score of 3 to 1.

All the errors of the Chicago men figured in the scoring of the visitors without a hit. Chicago's lone score was the result of a home run.

Coombs and Walsh were opposed to each other in a pitchers' battle in which Coombs with letter support had a shade.

Two world's records were broken at Cele

under the direction of the athletic clubs of the metropolitan district and Brick-

Olympic fund. Abel Kiviat, the wonderful runner of the Irish-American Club, again broke his own world's record for the 1,500-metre run, when he covered the distance in 3 minutes 564-5 seconds,

which lowered the mark he established a week ago by 23-5 seconds. Jim Duncar got his shoulder behind the discus and competing from a seven-foot circle, tossed the saucer out 145 feet 91/2 inches, which added 4 feet 51% inches to the former record of 141 feet 4% inches, established in 1911 by Martin Sheridan. Although Duncan broke the record, handicaps were too much for him and he was forced to rest

Nor were these record performances all that stirred the crowd of some eight thousand persons. C. A. Reidpath, the quarter-mile intercolleigate champion and record holder, gave another exhibition of his marveMous speed, when he won a brilliant race in the 400-metre run in 49 seconds' flat time. Reidpath might well have scored in record time, but for the fact that one of the field, staring from a handlean, stumbled and in falling threw the Syracuse star out of his stride. His mar-

Paterson Athletic Club, from scoring in the 8,000-metre run. Scott and Kramer started from scratch after a field made up of such runners as John J. Daly. Mike Ryan and raced along, first one and then the other showing a little in front as they slowly, but none the less surely, cut down the dirtance which separated them from the lead-When the men had gone somewhat over four miles Scott tripped and fell to Totals 40 13 18 27 10 2 Totals . 38 6 12 24 12 3 the track.
